PRICE THREE CENTS

A VERY FINE EXHIBIT

Pupils of Middletown School Show Good Work

SEVERAL EXCELLENT ESSAYS

Through the courtesy of Principal McKnight, the scribe had the pleasure of viewing some fine school work, largely drawings, paper cutting work, essay writing, calendar making, etc.

The various exhibits, done by about 50 pupils of the several grades from 7th to the lowest, shown in one of the Academy rooms, were of a character that reflects high credit both upon the scholars themselves and upon their Principal and their intelligent and faithful teachers. Some of the work—in several cases by very young pupils—was artistic to an uncommon degree and one could well credit Prof. McKnight's statement that the Middletown exhibit at Dover was pronounced one of the best. If not in fact, the very best school exhibit in the state.

For example, a paper-cutting by a third grade pupil, was voted to be very superior by the State supervisors and teachers from other parts of the State. This piece represented a vase holding a handsome flower whose five white petals were exquisitely well done. Another paper-cutting showed a tooth, brush with the legend "use me twice a day;" an excellent model showing the outside and inside structure of a tooth; white paper ducks on a blue background; a cat's head showing yellow eyes from beneath; while white Thanksgiving turkeys were many and cleverly done.

A number of the figures of children and animals, such as boys carrying or wheeling a pumpkin, swimming ducks, mer, and women Pilgrims marching, a log cabin, Indian teepees, canoe, all in white outline, possessed to an unusual degree for very young pupils that fine quality of artistic merit called "action."

Quite a number of essays on "Hygiene," "Fire Prevention," "Our Playground Apparatus," etc., were both neatly written and the matter creditable to the youthful authors. All some fine, cover-ornamented booklets on "Errors in English," and other topics with sundry observations on language, such as "Down with The Enemy Slang," "Better Speech, Better People," etc.

One very praiseworthy innovation our present School Board have made through Prof. Vogel is—a more systematic use by the scholars of various athletic exercises, calisthenic drills, tennis, basketball and dodge ball, medicine ball relay, "follow the leader" and a number of other gym exercises.

One of the lower grade booklets bore the motto, "Better Health—Better Attendance," and the fact that Prof. McKnight says the Middletown Scholars showed the highest attendance percentage in the whole state, bears out the truth of the little essayist's assertion. By all means, then for health's sake, for scholarship's sake, give the scholars more of this blessed new thing—systematic outdoor exercise that shall realize the famous Roman maxim "mens sana in sano corpore," a "sound mind in a sound body."

An attractive feature was that of three dozen quick camera photographs showing the scholars in gymnastic action of all kinds on the campus field. The School Board and Teachers groups were also shown. Altogether the display is a big credit to the school management and shows a marked advance upon former methods and work.

This account of our fine corps of Academy instructors would be incomplete did we not mention the former able Principal, Miss Ida Howell, who voluntarily resigned the too heavy duties of that position for those of assistant to her very worthy successor Principal McKnight.

SPECIAL SERVICES ON THIS SUNDAY
Notice is hereby given that a Great Service devoted to the interests of the Nation-Wide Campaign, will be held on Sunday evening, with an address by Mr. Hobbs, Editor of the Baltimore Sun. Everyone is cordially invited to be present and hear this gifted layman speak.

Notice will be given on Sunday, of the program of services to be given during the week and the speakers.

November 30th, St. Andrew's Day. "One of the two which heard John speak, and followed Him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother." St. John 1:40.

This feast is placed at the beginning of the church's year because St. Andrew was the first called to be an apostle, and the first to proclaim to others the coming of the Messiah. Advent Sunday is always the one nearest it, either before or after, and may even fall upon the same day. St. Andrew was born in Bethsaida of Galilee, was a brother of St. Peter, and, like him, a poor fisherman until both were called by our Lord to become "fishers of men." Church history says that after our Saviour's ascension, he preached the Gospel on the shores of the Black Sea, or the region now known as the famous Crimea, and that he was martyred at Patrae, in Achaia. This apostle is an example to us not only in his constancy, but in his act of bringing his brother to Christ. Let us ponder it deeply, and urge ourselves onward to new labors of love for the souls that are most dear to us. It may be but a little while that we shall see around our firesides the faces that we love best in this life, and bitter exceedingly would be the thought that in another world anyone of them should be shut out from our sight forever. All of us—even the smallest child that has learned its need of a Saviour—may do something, if only by a simple word now and then, or the silent prayer of a meek and pious life, or the loving prayer that God hears in secret but rewards openly. Let us, then, do what we may while yet we have time, and especially to "bring unto Jesus" some "brother" who has not yet "found the Messiah."

FOREST CHURCH NOTES

Sunday, November 27th, 1921.
10.30 A. M. Morning service. Sermon by the Pastor.
11.45 A. M. Sunday School.
7.30 P. M. Evening service. Sermon by the Pastor.

Mid-week service, Wednesday, 7.30 P. M.
Boy Scout meeting, Friday, 7 P. M.
On the second Sunday in December, at the morning service, we will observe the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. If you are now a member of the church, we expect you will be present at that service, to commemorate the love of Christ for you. It was for you that he died and it is through his death that you can claim not only communion with his people, but the privilege of sonship in the family of God. If you are not now a member of the church, we invite you to come before the session at 10.00 A. M. on the morning of the communion service, and by your profession of faith in Christ and your obedience to serve Him, be duly enrolled with those who have publicly declared their allegiance to God. You will never find a better occasion, or a more opportune time, than the present, to begin your public service of the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. The Pastor would be glad to talk with you about making this decision.

By all means, then for health's sake, for scholarship's sake, give the scholars more of this blessed new thing—systematic outdoor exercise that shall realize the famous Roman maxim "mens sana in sano corpore," a "sound mind in a sound body."

An attractive feature was that of three dozen quick camera photographs showing the scholars in gymnastic action of all kinds on the campus field. The School Board and Teachers groups were also shown. Help Find Missing Persons

The postal force has been ordered to do all it can to help people find missing relatives and friends.

Postmaster-General Hays says this help is offered to make the postoffice more human and a more valuable factor in public service.

Name and address information in the postoffice records, heretofore kept confidential is now available to searchers. Postmaster Hays' idea and instructions to postmasters are published in a poster called "The Post Office, the Port of Missing Men." It says in part:

"The Post Office Department, with its organized facilities reaching into every corner of the land, may be of practical service to the distressed. Therefore, they are willingly offered for this purpose. There is no intention of interference with private affairs or to act as a collection agency. Postmasters will scrutinize and investigate carefully each case reported to them, and when convinced to its genuineness will make such inquiries on other postmasters as the circumstances may warrant and advise the interested relative or friend."

A Successful Play

The three-act rural comedy "The Old Dairy Homestead," presented in the school auditorium, in Townsend, Wednesday evening was well received, and the Ushers Union of the M. E. Church, under whose auspices the play was given realized about $175 as a result of their efforts.

Owing to the fact that many were turned away who applied for admission to the first show, the management has decided to repeat the comedy on Thursday evening, December 1st, in the school auditorium, in Townsend.

P. & T. MEETING

At a meeting of the Middletown Parent-Teachers' Association on Friday, November, the 18th, the program was given over to the consideration of the needs of the boys and girls for a library or libraries containing books suitable to the age of each class group.

The spirit of the meeting was in keeping with the slogan adopted by the State, "Better Libraries for Delaware Schools." After the recitations, "Land of Story Books" and "Magic" by Earl Wilson and Evelyn Elliott, short talks were made on the subject by Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Pool and Mrs. Vaughan.

Then Mrs. Beaton, in giving a report of the State Teachers Meeting which was held in Dover November 11th, called our attention to a Book List for Mothers Published by the State Association which was recommended to parents as a safe guide in the purchasing of books. Copies of the booklet were given to those present. Two very excellent suggestions were made as to the means of increasing the number of books in the School Library. First, urge that parents give each of their children one good book for Christmas. After the book has been read encourage the child to share his gift with others by permitting him to bring the book to school for his class mates to enjoy. Second, have the teacher ask each child to bring one penny a week to school. With 340 pupils enrolled, this would amount to $12.60 per month which could profitably be spent for books.

The Middletown Exhibit just as it appeared at Dover for the State Teachers Meeting was displayed for the ladies of the Parent-Teachers Association. The mothers showed their appreciation of the work that had been done by many complimentary remarks.

New Century Club Notes

The meeting, Tuesday, November, 22, was very interesting. A letter from Mrs. Stein, State Chairman of Civics, was read asking for contributions toward a Christmas donation, to be sent to her, at Seaford, early in December for the Delaware Colony, (Home for Defective,) clothing, toys and victrola records were mentioned.

It was decided to purchase an electric heater for the ladies' dressing-room. Mrs. Pool, the president, then announced the program, Mrs. Lee Pennington, chairman. Two instrumental selections by Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett and a vocal solo by Mrs. J. D. Niles, were greatly appreciated. Mrs. Pool then introduced Rev. R. S. Hodgson, pastor of the Odessa M. E. Church, who gave a most interesting address on the "Non Christian Religion." Two charming musical selections by Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Niles closed the afternoon program.

The card party held at Miss Metten's last Friday evening under auspices of Civics Committee was a great success, about $13.00 being realized. Next Tuesday, Current Events, Mrs. F. B. Watkins, Chairman.

Twenty schooners have passed through the locks within the past few weeks, enroute from Delaware City and river oyster beds, loaded with bivalves for points along the Chesapeake Bay. This is the first time in many years such a condition has existed that required such shipments. The oysters of the Chesapeake Bay are said to be of a very poor quality this season and the oystermen are not tending for them in any great numbers. Those taken so far this year are very thin and tough in most instances. The Delaware River product is bringing 60c to $1.25 a bushel.

UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

The third annual Thanksgiving dinner of the University of Delaware held in the Old College Tuesday night, proved one of the most delightful affairs of the year. This custom of giving a Thanksgiving dinner to the student body, members of the faculty and some invited guests was inaugurated by A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator two years ago and is growing in popularity. Turkey with most everything that goes with it for a successful Thanksgiving dinner made up the menu prepared by Miss Betts, dietician.

G. Gray Carter, president of the Student Council presided and several members of the Board of Trustees were among the guests. More than 200 partook of the dinner.

Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of the reptiles at the New York Zoological Gardens, gave an illustrated lecture last Saturday night in Wolf Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, on "Our Animal Friends and Foes," which was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. Dr. Ditmars showed some interesting moving pictures taken of various animals, insects and reptiles. This was the second of the Artist Series of entertainments which were first started last year. The third entertainment will be a lecture on December 10, by County Ilva Telstey.

Professor George L. Schuster, agronomist at the University of Delaware while attending the convention of Land Grant Colleges at New Orleans recently made an address before the convention on "The influence of fertilizers on maturity and yield of soy beans."

RELICS FOUND

Sound and as bright as the day they were made, three brass helmets bearing the figure of a lion and worn by the British grenadiers who came up the Delaware with Admiral Lord Howe on his flagship, the Augusta, nearly 150 years ago, have recently been brought up from the bottom of the Delaware River by the dredge Cataract. The find is considered by experts to be the most interesting of any historic relics of the early days of the nation discovered in recent years.

The helmets were dug up a short distance below the mouth of the Schuylkill, at a point approximately opposite the present site of Fort Mifflin. Besides the helmets there was found enough wreckage to identify it as coming from the British sloop of war Merlin, carrying 18 guns, which was set on fire and sunk October 22, 1777, in an attack from Fort Mifflin, during which hot cannon balls were used under the direction of General George Smith, commander of the American forces. The hot shot caused her magazine to explode and blow the ship apart.

The British, at one time, were pushing towards Philadelphia, where it had been reported a treason movement was in progress. Admiral Howe after being repulsed, joined his brother, Lord Howe, but before leaving he destroyed Fort Mifflin.

The helmets have been presented by Major L. E. Lyons, United States engineer in charge of Delaware River improvements, to the Valley Forge Historical Society.

Roger Totten Free

Roger L. Totten, former statistician of Delaware State Board of Education, who eloped over two weeks ago with a Sussex county school teacher, Margaret Hill, and who has been in custody in Kent county jail for over one week in default of bail of $500 on two charges, one non-support and the other desertion, was released from jail Monday afternoon on his own recognizance. Totten's release was brought about after his mother's arrival on the noon train and her desire to take her son back home with her to Brookline, Mass. While Deputy Attorney-General Earl D. Willey was out of Dover when Totten's mother arrived, he was gotten in communication with and consent was given to release Totten on his signing his own bail.

Totten was instructed that his release was conditioned on his return to Delaware the third Monday in February to answer the charges on which he is being held unless he was otherwise notified. Totten promised to comply with the mandates of the court.

Thanksgiving Dance

The ladies of the New Century Club gave a delightful Thanksgiving dance, in the Club House, Wednesday evening. The affair was attended by more than 50 couples from all parts of the Peninsula, and the dancing which began at nine o'clock and ended at one, was greatly enjoyed by all the participants. The auditorium was beautifully decorated with potted plants, ferns, and rose colored crepe paper, and Kimmy's orchestra of Wilmington, furnished music which delighted both the dancers and spectators.

At eleven o'clock, the committee served refreshments consisting of chicken salad, saltines and coffee.

GRAIN RATE SLASHED

I. C. C. Refuses to Modify Decision Cut Effective December 27

SUBSTITUTE WAS REJECTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A positive order was issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission today requiring railroads to put the approximately 16 per cent. decrease in hay and grain rates into effect on or before next December 27.

The order follows up the decision given October 20, by the commission, which declared grain and hay rates from the Mississippi Valley to the Pacific Coast unreasonably high, but did not carry compulsory orders.

The October decision instructed the railroads to make the reduction by November 20, which was not done, because the railroads opened negotiations with the commission suggesting that a 10 per cent. decrease in freight rates on all agricultural products be substituted for the larger decrease on grain products and hay alone. The commission, however, by the order issued today, disregarded the compromise proposed and made the larger decrease on hay and grain mandatory upon the roads.

The order issued today made specific and definite the hay and grain reductions. The original decision said railroads should reduce the rates on the products concerned by one-half of the increases given in 1920. The commission today ordered hay and grain rates between points in Mountain-Pacific territory not more than 12.5 per cent. above the rates in effect before the 1920 increase.

Between points in the Western group as defined in its decision where 40 per cent. increases were allowed in 1920, the commission ordered them made effective at 20 per cent.; between other western group points the commission held rates shall not exceed 17.5 per cent. above the old schedules and between points in the Mountain-Pacific group and points in the Western group the increase above the old 1920 schedules shall be held at 16 2/3 per cent.

The commission also reiterated its decision requiring the roads to fix rates for coarse grain such as corn at 10 per cent. less than the rates on wheat.

MR. MOORE HALE AT 89

Elias Naudain Moore, of near Odessa, spent Tuesday receiving the congratulations of his friends, neighbors and relatives on the occasion of his eighty-ninth birthday. No special celebration had been prepared for the event. This, Mr. Moore explained he is withholding until November 22, of next year.

Mr. Moore lives with his daughter, Mrs. S. F. Shalleross and Miss Velma Moore. He has been farming since 1870, previous to which he was in the saw business in Wilmington for three years. His two daughters are the only surviving members of his family, although there are several nephews and nieces, descendants of his brother, Alfred Moore, of Royal Oak, Md., and his sister, Mrs. Mary E. Sparks, mother of George W. Sparks, State Income Tax Commissioner, of Wilmington.

Mr. Moore is the only surviving member of the Delaware Legislature of 1865. He also was a member of the State Constitutional Convention, held in Dover in 1897. He was born November 22, 1832, on a farm a short distance below his present home, Fairview, and moved a few years later to his present residence, which was built in 1873 by his great grandfather, Major James Moore. He is a son of the late James V. and Rachel M. Moore.

He went to school in Pennington, N. J., when he was 18 years old and there took up the practice of choir singing, which he continued for sixty years. During the period 1868-9, while he lived in Wilmington, he was a member of Grace Church choir. He has been a member of St. Paul's Church, Odessa, since going there to live and for many years was prominent in the choir.

FRANCE CANNOT REDUCE HER ARMY

GREAT ORATOR AND ACTOR

Secretary Of State Hughes Reports Progress Toward Realization Of Plan For Reduction Of Navies.

Washington.—The third plenary session of the Conference on the Limitation of Armament was called to order in Continental Hall at 11:01 A. M. Monday.

After a brief speech by Secretary of State Hughes, chairman of the Conference, in which he said there was nothing definite to report as regards naval armaments or Far East questions, but that "our expectations in both are being realized," Premier Aristide Briand of France took the floor and, in a speech which was repeatedly interrupted by cheering, declared that France, menaced by a hostile Germany, was unable at present to reduce her army; that "an atmosphere of peace" must first be established.

After his dramatic speech the question was referred to committee, where it may remain indefinitely, but he received at least something of the moral support he asked for.

A second outstanding feature of the day was the signing of the first definite agreement of the Conference, by which all the eight powers participating bind themselves to respect the territorial and administrative integrity of China and afford her free opportunity for development. Four principles to this effect were enunciated.

It was announced that the British delegates hope that a solution of the Pacific problem will lead to abandonment of the Anglo-Japanese alliance by producing a tripartite agreement, with the United States participating. Great Britain's firm stand with the United States on the five-five-three naval program caused Japan to waver, and, after a conference between Secretary Hughes, Mr. Bailew and Admiral Kato, it was stated that progress had been made on this point.

13 U. S. CONSULS IN GERMANY.

Ready For Business For First Time
Since War Began.

Berlin.—The shields of the American consular offices in Germany were set up outside the buildings Monday for the first time since relations were broken off between Germany and the United States. The Consuls are now ready to carry on official business.

The German Government was requested to recognize 13 Consuls provisionally, all of whom have taken up their duties, despite the fact that the Spanish Consuls, who had been looking after American interests, have received no directions to turn over the equipment to the Americans.

The following consulates have reopened: Berlin, Munich, Hamburg, Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Dresden, Leipzig, Stuttgart, Bremen, Cologne, Cologne, Stettin, Breslau and Königsberg.

MORE FREIGHT RATES CUT.

Reductions Equal Half Of Increases
Granted In 1920.

Washington.—Railroad rate reductions on agricultural products, both the general decrease of 10 per cent. announced by railroad executives this week and the greater percentage decrease ordered throughout the West on grain and hay by the Interstate Commerce Commission last month, were left in considerable confusion on the official records. The commission decided that the hay and grain schedules should be reduced by November 20 by amounts equal to one-half of the increases allowed the roads in 1920.

AIR POSTMAN HITS TREE.

Chicago-Cleveland Pilot Only Slightly Hurt In Crash.

Chicago.—Dan Kiser, air mail pilot, who left Chicago for Cleveland, crashed into a tree near Gary, Ind., at 11:30 o'clock, and was slightly injured, according to reports reaching the flying field here. The accident was due to the dense fog. Kiser, hunting familiar landmarks, flew too low. He was taken to the Gary hospital, where it was found that his only injuries were a sprained back and slight cuts. The plane was badly damaged.

HARDING TO GET "DRY" BIRD.

Thanksgiving Turkey Grown By Mississippi Prohibitionist.

Cincinnati.—President Harding's Thanksgiving Day turkey, a 35-pound bird, passed in state through here destined for the White House table.

The bird was grown by M. H. Daily, Prohibition Commissioner of Mississippi, whose home is at Crystal Springs, and the crests in which the bird was confined was decorated with bunting and flags furnished by the American Legion post of that city.

END THEIR HUNGER STRIKE.

Ninety Political Prisoners In Saxony
Start To Eat.

Berlin.—Ninety political prisoners at Lichtenburg, Saxony, ended their hunger strike begun in protest against refusal of the Government to review their cases. Twenty of their leaders continued hunger striking, however. There are 190 political prisoners in the Lichtenburg jail. They were arrested following the proletarian riots last March.

U. S. TO GIVE SUPPORT TO CHINESE.

Washington.—The United States will support heartily much of China's plan for settling Far Eastern problems.

This applies particularly to the "open door," to points nine and ten, which provide for an arrangement for "peaceful settlement of international disputes in the Far East," and for reconvening the Far East Conference from time to time for "determination of common policies."

Secretary of State Hughes has let the Conference know that America is heartily for the "open door." Great Britain's delegation shares this view, too.

NEW R. R. SHOP RULES READY DEC. 1

Labor Board Says Plan For Six Crafts is Complete

PAVES WAY FOR WAGE ISSUE

Revision Of Pay Of Groups Affected
By Changed Rules May Be Asked—To Affect 500,000
Men.

Chicago.—The United States Railroad Labor Board announced that new working rules for the six shop crafts probably will be completed and issued in time to become effective December 1.

Issuance of the rules, under a recent decision of the board, paves the way for consideration of requests which may be filed by the roads for revision of the shop-craft wage schedules.

The new shop-craft rules will affect approximately 500,000 men on all class 1 railroads in the country. Only 94 railroads are directly concerned in the present case, the others not having their submissions in proper shape when the case was taken up, but board members anticipate that all the class 1 railroads will probably carry out the decision without further hearings.

The board's statement said: "Such satisfactory progress during the past week has been made in the consideration of rules and working conditions for the six shop crafts that it is altogether probable that these rules will be completed and will become effective December 1."

The board members said tonight that the new rules have been practically completed in less than five months, while the national agreement, which they supersede, required that attention of railway, Government and labor representatives and experts for seven months before it was completed.

The Labor Board's work on the rules was interrupted by the threatened railroad strike which was averted October 27. A few days previously the board had announced that no further wage reductions for any class of employees would be considered by the board until working rules and agreements in dispute for that class of employees had been passed on.

The board, it was indicated, will next take up for consideration rules and working conditions for the maintenance-of-way employees. There are a large number of disputed questions regarding these rules already before the board, and statisticians have prepared most of the cases for presentation.

Steps for revision of the national agreements before the Labor Board were taken April 16, 1920, after the railroads and their employees had finished preliminary negotiations both as to wages and rules and working conditions without reaching any agreement. The board hastened the decision by ordering further conferences between employees and the roads on rules and working conditions. The results were reported back to the board, which in July began the work of formulating new rules.

IRISH SITUATION RESTS.

Negotiations Suspended Pending Convention In Liverpool.

London.—All negotiations connected with the Irish question were expected to remain suspended until the result of the Unionist party convention in Liverpool is known.

Should the "die-hard" element in the party dominate, thus pledging the organization automatically to oppose any concessions to Sinn Fein, it was regarded as certain that Premier Lloyd George and his ministry would be forced to carry out his threat to resign. There was every indication, however, that the more liberal element would dominate the convention.

BOYS DRINK WOOD ALCOHOL.

New York.—Vittio Genovese, 12 years of age; John Purillo, aged 14 years, and James Maggio, aged 10 years, are in a serious condition at St. Vincent's Hospital after drinking wood alcohol from a bottle which they believed contained whisky. Police are searching for 20 other boys who are believed to have taken some of the wood alcohol. Maggio said he had given drinks to all the boys in the neighborhood who wanted them.

Washington Court Convicts Whiskey

Montesano, Wash.—A hip pocket was held to be a "joint" or illicit liquor resort, within the meaning of the Washington "jointist" statute, when John Miserlich was convicted in Superior Court. JAPAN FOR OPEN DOOR

Tokio Government Declares Policy Is To Avoid Any Action That Could Be Construed As Intervention.

Washington.—The force of public opinion expressed to every quarter of the world is conceded by the chief actors in the Armament Conference to have already accomplished more satisfactory results than was ever credited to diplomatic negotiations within an equal period of time.

The prospective success of the Conference in providing far-reaching and desirable reforms in the limitation of naval armaments and the establishment of more stable conditions in the Far East has encouraged the belief among the representatives of the nine participating nations that the new charter for the conduct of world affairs will be completed by the Christmas holidays.

In conceding the irresistible influence of public opinion in shaping the tremendous events involved, the representatives of more than one foreign government frankly admit that rejection of the fundamentals of the American program will carry both international outlawry and popular domestic repudiation.

Perhaps the most interesting development was the statement from American sources that not a single factor or figure had been presented to date to affect the fundamentals of the American proposals for the limitation of naval armaments. This statement carried with it the assurance that, while the fullest latitude would be given Great Britain and Japan for justifying their pleas for special consideration, the American attitude would be preserved until the conclusion of the Conference.

The next most important event was the belated presentation of an outline of the Japanese formula for the correction of Far Eastern complications of minor importance, and the decision of the representatives of some of the European nations to eliminate from their schedules the subject of foreign debts due to the United States and other subjects regarded as extraneous and irrelevant to the simple agenda proposed by this country.

Another detail that had much to do with the clarifying of the foreign minds as to the solidarity of American institutions behind the program proposed by Secretary Hughes, Elihu Root, Senators Lodge and Underwood brought conviction that there is a wholesale concurrence of view and co-operation between the executive and legislative branches of this Government regarding the purpose of the Conference and methods employed by its representatives toward accomplishing the great reforms projected.

The greatest momentary interest naturally attached to the Japanese declaration of principles regarding Far Eastern problems. This was presented to the committee composed of the leaders of the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Portugal, Italy, Japan and China. The official communique describing the Japanese suggestions was the most voluminous yet issued. Features of the Japanese proposals may be summed up in these 10 points:

No. 1. Suggests that the Conference in dealing with the affairs of China limit itself to the adjustment of foreign relations of that country, leaving the Chinese to work out their domestic problems.

No. 2. Pledges the Japanese Government to avoid any violation of Chinese national rights that may be construed as intervention in Chinese international affairs.

No. 3. Declares that Japan is entirely uninfluenced by any territorial ambition in China.

No. 4. Disclaims the assertion of special rights or privileges in commercial dealing with China and expresses willingness to welcome fair and open competition.

No. 5. Announces its readiness to acquiesce in an agreement with other powers on the question of extra territoriality.

No. 6. Specifically disclaims selfish ambitions and expresses willingness to assist in establishing peaceful conditions in the Far East.

No. 7. Assents to the purpose of the Conference to "discuss principles and policies," but deprecates the discussion of "innumerable minor matters."

No. 8. Adheres without conditions or reservations to the principle of the "open door" and equal opportunity in China.

No. 9. Conveys assurance to the Chinese delegation of a desire to cultivate the happiest relations with the people of China.

No. 10. Expresses a desire to contribute toward China's ambitions for "just and legitimate aspirations."

Riga.—The anti-Bolshevik movement in the Ukraine, which has been in progress under General Turunk, but was credited with being inspired by General Petura, leader in numerous previous anti-Bolshevik movements, has been completely broken up, according to the Rosta News Agency, the official soviet news organization in the Baltic.

GERMANY'S INDEMNITY PAYMENTS DEMANDED.

Berlin.—The Allied Reparations Commission, which arrived here from Paris last week seeking first-hand information, notified the German Government that the Allies insist that January and February payments on indemnity be paid as ordered. The payments amount to 500,000,000 gold marks, which Germany insists she has been unable to find.

TWO NATIONS FAR APART

Americans Reject British Proposal To Limit Size And Number—
Question Being Stressed.

Washington.—Great Britain's antipathy to submarines as a naval weapon still loomed as the outstanding point of disagreement between the British and American points of view in connection with future restricted naval programs.

The submarine question is being stressed beyond any other in unofficial discussion in Conference circles, and views of the two powers are so far apart that it seems likely extended consideration must be given before a mutual agreement can be reached.

In the British view, submarines should be abolished entirely as an improper naval weapon. A wide range of subjects has been covered to support that position.

In the American view, submarines, properly used, are as legitimate a naval weapon as battleships. No British argument yet presented has shaken that conviction as far as can be told. The British delegation apparently does not expect an agreement to abandon submarines. There is nothing to indicate that it has presented or will present any such proposal in formal way. Failing that, however, the British will advance a project to limit the United States and Great Britain to probably 45,000 tons in submarines instead of the 90,000 tons each proposed by the United States. Coupled with the proposal will be a formal suggestion to limit the size of individual submarines, perhaps to 250 tons.

The American viewpoint rejects immediately both these suggestions.

BUDGET WOULD BE HALVED.

Great Saving Involved By Adoption Of Program.

Washington.—Savings in next year's naval appropriation bill, should the American naval reduction proposals be adopted, were estimated roughly by Congressional leaders and committee experts at from $200,000,000 to $250,000,000.

"We should be able to bring out a bill carrying around $150,000,000," said Representative Patrick H. Kelley, Republican, Michigan, who will have charge of the naval budget in the House. He estimated that the Navy personnel might be cut from 105,000, its present strength, to about 50,000 men.

Little Rock, Ark.—Twelve persons were killed, 30 or more injured and considerable property damage done by two cyclones which struck in widely separated parts of the State.

One storm near Mena, in the extreme western part of the State, wiped out a family of eight persons.

Another storm striking a lumber camp near Ardelphia killed one person, injured 24 others and then skipped north to a point near Malvern, where three more persons were killed and a number injured.

PROPOSES TO "DISARM" PARKS.

Chicago.—A proposal to "disarm" parks in American cities by removing the ornamental cannon was made to the American Civic Association by J. Horace McFarland, its president, in his annual address.

His suggestion was offered, however, not as an aid to the Disarmament Conference, but on the grounds that "our worn or captured guns add nothing to the beauty of public places."

Fruits of Liberty

Every Delawarean takes pride in honoring the memory of Caesar Rodney. The proposed statue in Wilmington is a fitting recognition of his service to his state and his country in the trying days of 1776.

A sick man, he rode from Lewes to Philadelphia and his presence stimulated the assembly to declare the independence of the colonies. The Bell on Independence Hall proclaimed the news a short time later.

Delaware played her part in the birth of Liberty. With the new Liberty there came progress, with progress came industry and with industry came the need of communication facilities. The railways, good roads, electric cars and the telegraph are all fruits of liberty, but the telephone is the most universal.

We of the Diamond State are sparing no effort to render a telephone service which will merit your confidence and co-operation. That's our ambition and our ideal. To aim at any lower mark would not be fulfilling our obligation to you.

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. F. PHILLIPS, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous depression, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter clearly shows that no other remedy is so successful in overcoming this condition as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Polish Effects in Paris Gowns

Suffering Poland has furnished the Paris dressmaker with her inspiration for the fashions of this fall and the coming winter, according to a Paris fashion correspondent. From this war-racked, poverty-stricken country has come the lead for the luxury of the world. It is not the Poland of today that is dominating, but the Poland of ancient glory which kept step with France in her progress toward civilization.

Many missions have gone from France into Poland, and each group has returned impressed by her pathos and her beauty. These missions have had a bearing on present-day fashions, all of which are of the Renaissance period, touched with the Polish influence.

The Polish-Renaissance influence is a transforming one because practically every part of the dress has been touched. Sleeves have been made larger and in fancy style, both open and with under sleeves. Collars have heightened and have grown very important looking. The waistline has dropped several inches. The skirt has lengthened and taken on a flare, so this movement is almost revolutionary. These styles have great dignity and elegance. They call for the use of rich materials of heavy weight. Trimmings are heavy in the form of big cabuchons, nail heads and heavy embroideries that stand out from the background. The goldsmith's trade was at its zenith during this period and the costumes of the nobility were adorned with real and semi-precious jewels and ornamented with hammered gold and silver. Today all of these effects are being imitated with great success.

Quilted Velvet Model.
Such fringes as are used are heavy, being made of lace, chenille and strings of large beads instead of the fine silk strands of modern times.

There is a new line of quilted materials brought out by Rodier, which works up wonderfully in these Polish-Renaissance models.

One of the most striking examples of the Polish styles is the model named Nijuski, made by Jean Patou. It is of Rodier's Gloeck, a quilted velvet, the quilting being done in gold thread. It is trimmed with black Persian lamb fur and has hammer-stamped steel nail head embroidery on the under-sleeve and a heavily jeweled grille worn at a low waistline. The model holds the keynote of much that is new and interesting in forthcoming fashion for autumn and winter.

In common with many other of this season's tailored dresses, it shows a high muffled collar. Persian lamb was chosen for it, and the same fur trims the sleeves and forms bands down either side. This old-fashioned fur also is having a renaissance and will be one of the most fashionable furs this winter. Black Persian lamb is extensively used as a trimming.

Copies of this dress have been made with the high muffled collar of cloth embroidered in hand effect or entirely covered with embroidery. It also has been worked out in cloth fringed with mohair fur.

Aside from emphasizing the Polish blouse in tailored suits, Patou shows three-quarters and seven-eighths length tailored suit coats with wide flaring circular cut fullness. Many of these show the low blousing waistline or low belted waistlines of the middle ages and the Renaissance period. From an inspirational standpoint in design the Polish peasant dress and the Italian Renaissance court costumes of about the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries have furnished most of Patou's ideas.

The Renaissance is strongly predominant in the sleeve effects of both dresses and mantles. He makes the wide flowing and bell shaped sleeve, often accompanied by an under sleeve of brilliant contrasting color.

New and interesting garments show a combination of cloth and fur. One model from Madeleine et Madeleine is developed in perlatine, Rodier's new material, in a deep pumpkin shade trimmed with Hudson seal.

A tailored suit is also from Madeleine et Madeleine. For it they have selected perforated broadcloth and have worked it out in the new belted coat effect.

Practically every important dressmaker in Paris is using perforated broadcloth as a novelty. It is often underlaid with a contrasting color, as in this instance where brown crepe de chine is used, the crepe de chine exactly matching the color of the fur, which is brown monkey skin.

One-Piece Dress of Gray Broadcloth With Waist Portion of Red and Steel Metallic Cloth.

The One-Piece Dress.
A simple style of one-piece dress designed to be worn under a fur coat is developed in a gray broadcloth, the skirt being of the cloth and the bodice of a mixed metallic material showing a reflection of red and steel. Hammered steel buttons fasten the collar and one side of the bodice. A three-quarter length gray squirrel coat was made to accompany this frock. It is one of Madeleine et Madeleine's models.

The same house also shows among their new things a popular cloth street dress made of velours de laine in a beautiful shade of beige trimmed with applique rounds of brown satin and having a high fur collar and fur cuffs.

A beautiful tea gown or negligee, whether it be for formal or informal wear, is dear to the heart of every woman. This type of garment follows the lead of dresses.

CHILDREN'S HATS HAND-MADE

Carefully Sewn and Blocked Headgear for Youngsters Endowed With Individualism.

Hats for children that are developed with infinite care, and endowed with a sense of individualism, comprise a collection that includes modes ranging from infants' sizes to sixteen-year-old girls.

The average size hat caters to such fabrics as duvetyne, felt and velvet in its composition, with particular emphasis placed upon the duvetyne and felt models, with an array of colors to fit well the program of colors planned for this season. The most popular shades at the moment are tan, brown, blue and red.

Every hat is sewn and blocked by hand, and expresses distinction to a high order. The garnitures are also charming, using the favored trimming motifs of adult size millinery, in the proportionately miniature sizes. Such trimmings as hackel pads, ostrich fancies, fur bands, lacquered quills and embroideries, are also reduced to proportions that are in keeping with the size of the little hats.

May Have Linen Again.
It has been many a month since the flax fields of the Emerald Isle have received any attention. Now, it is said, a revival of the linen industry is probable in the near future. This will be good news to the housewife whose store of linens is somewhat depleted.

Kills Moth.
You can remove moths from the carpets by wringing a coarse towel out of water, spreading smoothly on the carpet and then ironing over it with a hot iron. Steam kills moths.

Garnishing.
Try garnishing the veal or pork with fried apple rings or steamed prunes slightly spiced.

PRESENT SMARTNESS OF FRINGE

Decoration Is Being Used on Wearing Apparel With the Most Delightful Success.

It would be a thankless task to explain the psychology of fashion—why attempt to explain the unexplainable? asks a Fashion writer in Harper's Bazar. There is fringe, for example; who can explain its present smartness when for months we have been assured that it was "going" if not already "out"? Paris is using it this season for every sort of gown and wrap with the most delightful success. Right cannot use it in ways that are new and strange to this once strait-laced trimming. It appears as bands and panels in place of fur, it plays the part of sleeves and even entire trunks and naturally we find it firmly outsting embroidery from its long assured position.

This new importance of fringe is due not alone to its decorative possibilities. Look to its straight, clinging qualities. Paris awoke suddenly to the fact that its long silken strands added in some subtle fashion to the slenderness of the silhouette—it falls limply, clings closely to the gown fabric and may be used in several layers or in single file. It makes a most satisfactory finish to deep shawl collars and tunics.

Strips of the deep fringe form the entire sides of the frock, the uppermost serving as sleeves. A year ago these panels would have been of fur or embroidery.

Side Trimming Used.
The cascading of the sides is a feature one finds in both cloth and silk dresses, the cascade being formed by the loose ends of folds which cross the skirt and are divided on the sides, a few extra inches of length being given to each, which drop at the sides.

Color Combinations.
A smart wedding had the bridemaids frocked in fuchsia chiffon and their hats of bright blue.

The patter of rain on a cottage roof Is a sound that I love full well— And I love the break of an autumn day And the woodland's leafy smell. I love the turn of a pasture lane Where the asters mimic the mist; And I love the orchard fruit that glows To a blush where the sun has kissed.

INVITING CELERY DISHES.

At this season of the year when celery is grown in so many gardens, it may be a frequent dish in many forms and combinations. As soup there is none more popular than:

Cream of Celery Soup.
—Take two cupsful of minced celery cooked in a pint of water until tender, put through a puree strainer, adding the liquor in which it was cooked. Scald one quart of milk with a slice of onion, remove the onion and add two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour cooked together; cook all together until the flour has been well cooked, then season and serve very hot.

Celery may be found present in the best salads, adding flavor, bulk and vegetable acids, so wholesome for the body.

Cream cheese mixed with finely minced celery served on lettuce with French dressing is another good one.

Luncheon Dish.—Take two cupsful of cooked celery, put a layer in a buttered baking dish, add a layer of thick white sauce, then a sprinkling of cheese and another layer of celery; finish with a layer of white sauce and cover with buttered crumbs. Bake until the crumbs are brown.

Celery Fritters.—Take stalks of celery three inches long, cook until tender, drain, dip in batter and fry in deep fat.

Celery served crisp and white as a fresh vegetable is one of its attractive and most popular ways of serving. The short tender stalks stuffed with highly seasoned cream cheese may be served as a relish.

Fried celery makes a very pretty garnish to use on a salad. Cut the celery into two and one-half-inch lengths and slit up to within a quarter of an inch at both ends, drop into acidulated water and let stand to curl. Drain dry and use around the edge of a platter or salad bowl with radish tulips in between each piece of celery.

The buds may blow and the fruit may grow And the autumn leaves drop crisp and sore; But whether the sun, or the rain or the snow, There is ever a song somewhere, my dear.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

HAVE A CUP OF TEA?

A well-made cup of tea is refreshing and delightful, but a poor one is worse than a dose of bad medicine. The making of tea is a very simple process. Pot should be hot, water boiling and tea measured, then when the three come together let them stand just long enough to draw out the flavor of the tea. Tea that is boiled makes a beverage astringent and unwholesome.

Without doubt the quality of the water used in teamaking has much to do with the quality of the tea.

In some English homes they go quite a distance to get certain spring water which is so desirable for tea. These spring waters add to the tonic value of the tea.

With a sweet, clean pot rinsed in boiling water before the tea is added, using a teaspoonful of tea to a cupful of boiling water, let it steep or draw three to five minutes and the result is an excellent cup of tea. Make tea fresh. Do not serve it after standing half an hour.

The Russian tea, as we know it, is served with a slice of lemon, but as a matter of fact, their national drink is served with a spoonful of jam dropped right into the cup.

Wild thyme and verbena are used in some countries and in Persia they like their tea very sweet with the juice of the lime especially prepared for it. In parts of India garlic is used in tea, a combination which would not appeal to an American.

We are a peculiar people in regard to the use of cream in tea, as it is said that in no country is it used as generally. Cream in tea makes the cup of tea as much better than milk as does cream in a cup of coffee.

There are many accessories with tea which we have acquired from time to time—the slices of lemon with a few cloves; cubes of sugar used to grate over an orange to absorb the essential oil is liked and popular; preserved pineapple or small dice of the fresh fruit are both enjoyed.

The components of tea which make its quality are then, tannin and an essential oil. The tannin is the alkaloid identical with caffeine in coffee which relieves the tired and nervous condition. Tannin is the constituent which gives strength and it is increased by standing.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 27

PAUL'S VOYAGE AND SHIPWRECK

LESSON TEXT—Acts 27:1-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day.—II Tim. 1:12.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—II Cor. 12:28; Phil. 4:12, 13.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Shipwreck.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in a Shipwreck.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Storm and Shipwreck.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Stormy Voyage.

1. A Stormy Voyage (vv. 1-20).

1. The ship. A ship of Alexandria sailing from Myra to Italy.

2. The company. Two of Paul's friends, Aristarchus and Luke, are permitted to go with him. Besides these three there were 273 in the ship (v. 7).

3. The storm. The ship made little headway on account of unfavorable winds. Paul advised that they winter in Fair Havens (vv. 9-12), but his advice was unheeded. The gentle south wind deceived them, so they loosed from Crete, only to be soon overtaken by the tempestuous wind, called Euroclydon. They did everything possible to save the ship. They took up the boat which was towed behind; they bound great cables around the ship to strengthen it for the storm; they lightened the ship by bringing down from the masts and rigging everything that was superfluous; and finally, the cargo and tackling of the ship itself were thrown overboard. All this seemed to be of no avail, so that all hope of being saved was removed.

It seemed that wicked men and material forces were combined to prevent the great apostle from reaching Rome. However, this is only apparent, for these very experiences were overruled by God to bring good cheer and salvation to many on the way. We should remember that tempestuous winds, as well as the soft breezes, await God's faithful ones. The presence of storms does not prove that we are going the wrong way.

11. Paul's Serene Faith (vv. 21-26).

To a man who did not know God, the failure of the sun and stars to shine for many days, the fading of all hope, was natural; but to the man of faith, hope still burns brightly. God is just as near to His own in the midst of a stormy sea as in their quiet homes.

Note Paul's behavior:

1. His rebuke for their failure to heed his advice at Fair Havens (v. 21). This was not a mere taunt, but a reference to the wisdom of his former advice urging them to give him a more respectable hearing.

2. Bids them be of good cheer (v. 22). He inspired them with hope.

3. He promises them safety (v. 22). Though the ship would go to pieces, every man's life would be saved.

4. The source of his information (vv. 23, 24). The angel of God had revealed it unto him. There is no darkness of storm that can shut out the angels, God's ministering servants, from those who believe and obey.

5. The reason of Paul's calm faith (v. 23). "Whose I am and whom I serve."

111. The Ship's Crew All Safe on Land (vv. 27-44).

This was exactly as the Lord had said. We can rest assured that all God has spoken shall come to pass, even though there be a broken ship, brutal soldiers and a perfidious crew. Aside from the fulfillment of God's promise, the most important part of this section is the splendid sanity which characterizes Paul's action on the way. Two things especially mark his sanctified common sense.

1. His vigilance had detected that the sailors had planned to escape. He knew how much they would be needed presently, and at once took steps to prevent their escape. He went straight to the man in charge and said, "Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be saved." He practiced the truth that genuine reliance upon God is the all-powerful incentive to human action. God's decrees always include the means for their accomplishment.

2. He knew that the famishing condition of the people was not the most favorable for the physical struggle which was soon to be undergone by them when they must struggle through the water to the shore. So he gets them to take a substantial breakfast. He had the good sense to look after that which was necessary. It was no time to talk to these men about their souls, for their bodies needed the main attention. His prayer for that meal had more effect upon the people than his preaching would have had. Let us learn from this the divine method of administration, namely, God overruling while man trusts Him and acts. A vigorous faith manifests itself in reasonable action.

Bread of Eternal Life.

What is this bread, O my God? It is not merely the support which Thy providence supplies for the necessities of life; it is also the nourishment of truth which Thou givest each day to the soul. It is the bread of eternal life, giving it vigor, and making it grow in faith. Thou dost renew it every day. Thou givest within and without precisely what the soul needs for its advancement in a life of faith and renunciation. For whatever happens to me each day is my daily bread, provided I do not refuse to take it from Thy hand and feed upon it.—Fenelon.

Must Love God.

You should frequently arouse within yourself the desire to give to God all the faculties of your soul—that is, of your mind, to know Him and think of Him, and of your will, to love Him; and further seek to consecrate all your outward senses to Him in all their actions.—Fenelon.

Punch Came From East Indies.

Punch, it is said, came from the East Indies, and the name is claimed to be derived from the Sanskrit word meaning "five," on account of its five ingredients—rum, tea, sugar, lemons and hot water.

The Block Signals Are Working—

In some respects, human experience is like railroad.

Every moment of the business and social day the block signals are giving right of way to keenness and alertness—while the slow and the heavy must wait on the sidetrack for their chance to move forward.

The ability to "go through" and to "get there" depends much on the poise of body, brain and nerves that comes with correct diet and proper nourishment.

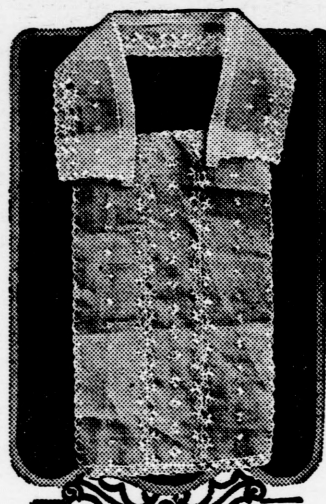

That's why so many choose Grape-Nuts for breakfast and lunch. Served with cream or milk it is completely nourishing, partly pre-digested, and it supplies the vital mineral salts so necessary to full nutrition.

Grape-Nuts has a rich, delightful flavor, is ready to serve on the instant—and is distinctly the food for mental and physical alertness and speed. At all grocers.

Winsome Holiday Gifts

Dainty Accessories

Innumerable pretty things in dress accessories and house furnishings are presented in the shops at Christmas time for women. The only difficulty is to make the right choice among them. Whoever determines to settle upon neckwear cannot go wrong; for no woman ever cries "hold, enough!" in this matter of dainty accessories. A vestee and collar of embroidered swiss, as pictured here, is a thing of sheer beauty that is sure to please.

Suited to Everyone

Here is a gift bag that may be depended on to please anyone who is fortunate enough to receive it and is suited to either men or women. It will answer many purposes and requires only a basket, a length of silk for the top, silk cord for hangers and small silk roses for trimming, to make it. In larger sizes it makes an attractive laundry bag.

Gift Ribbons

Each year brings in new sashes, girdles, hair-bows and a long list of other belongings to replace those that have had their bright day and passed with the year. Two ribbon girdles, as pictured here, make charming gifts. One of them is made of narrow satin ribbon bordered with a tinsel ribbon and decorated with ribbon flowers. The other is a wide sash of two-toned satin ribbon with loops at each side and a knot at the back.

A Merry Clown Doll

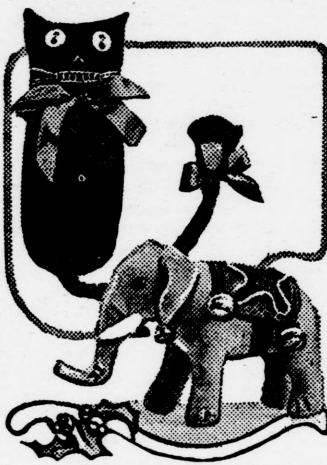

This merry gentleman is one of many dolls that may be made of discarded ribbed underwear or stockings. His head is made of a piece of white or pink ribbed stocking and his face painted with black and red paint. For the rest of him two colors are used and he is stuffed with cotton and has a white ruffle about his neck.

Pop-Corn Balls

Make some old-fashioned molasses candy and just before taking from the fire stir in enough pop-corn to thicken it. After stirring the mixture for a minute set the kettle at the side of the stove, take the mixture from it by the large spoonful and lay each on greased paper or a greased tin. As it hardens roll each spoonful into a ball, greasing the hands well first, and roll each ball over and over in

Hand-Made Toys

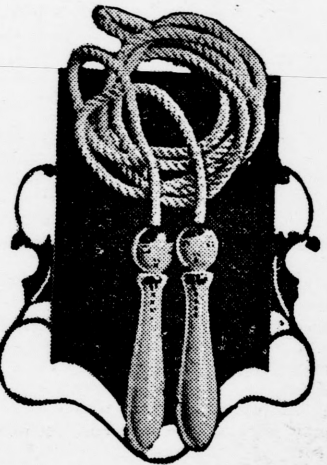

Here are two of many animals that are due to arrive on Christmas morning. A black kitty that will stand any amount of hard usage is very easy to make, requiring only a pair of silk stockings tops that have survived the worn-out feet. Cut off the worn feet and trim out the ankles in a curved line to form the ears. Sew a seam along this line, turn right side out and stuff with cotton to form the body. Wind the remainder of the tops with small cord to form the tail and tie a gay bow of ribbon at the end. Two white bone buttons make the eyes and heavy silk floss the mouth and whiskers and Miss Kitty is dressed up with a bow at the neck. The elephant is made of gray duvetyne, plush or cotton flannel and cut by a paper pattern. His eyes are shoe buttons, his tusks white cloth.

Pretty Home Gifts

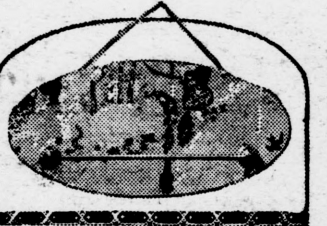

Anyone who knows how to handle a paint brush and oil colors or understands the new art of painting with colored sealing wax can make the book for telephone numbers pictured here. It is merely a piece of black oilcloth folded over leaves of white paper. Small holes punched through at each end allow a black silk cord to bind the book and provide for hanging it up at the same time.

Gay Skipping Ropes

A skipping rope is a joy to the sturdy little out-door girl, especially when it has Nannette and Rintintin for handles. They are painted a deep pink with faces, hair, neckties and buttons of black paint. By substituting clothepins for these handles and tacking the rope to them it is easy to make this treasure of childhood at home.

Handy Gifts for Men

Every man, young or old, will appreciate a good-looking rack to place within easy reach of his dressing case. The tie rack requires an oblong or oval board, smoothly covered with cretonne and a small nickel towel rack, which is screwed to the front of it. It is suspended by a silk cord fastened at the back with screw eyes.

DESPAIR LURKS IN WEAK BLOOD

Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the Blood-Builder, Arouses Dull Faculties.

Many a man and many a woman feels all out of sorts from thin, weakened blood. The least little thing gone wrong throws them into a wild form of despondency. Instead of bracing up and meeting ordinary difficulties, they are downed. Nerves are on edge. Appetite lags. Sleep is restless. They are weak and tired and dull. Poor blood works its havoc till the will loses its power. Few people who fall into habits of worry and despondency realize that most of their troubles are due to lack of endurance—to blood that has become weakened by overwork or straining.

Healthy men and women with rich, red blood see things brightly. They tackle life with zest and go along smilingly, full of eagerness and endurance. Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken steadily restores the blood to its natural richness. It actually makes red corpuscles, the tiny particles in blood which make it red. Druggists have Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid and tablet form. Advertisement.

SMALL GIRL GOT HER WISH

Little One Took a Good Deal for Granted, but as It Turned Out, She Was Justified.

My new young man took me to call on his sister, who was married. I wanted to make a good impression, so dressed in my best dress and was on my best behavior.

Two brothers dropped in, and I overheard them say they "wanted to give Fred's girl the once over."

A four-year-old niece administered the finishing touch when she asked in a voice that could be heard in the kitchen, "When you and Uncle Fred get married, may I be your flower girl?"

The brother grinned, brother-in-law in the kitchen howled, while I turned a most unbecoming red.

The youngest thought she'd waited long enough for an answer, so she said, "May I?"

I managed to say yes, and two years later we were and she was.—Chicago Tribune.

The Key to Success Is Work—There Is no Substitute for It!

In order to do your best work, you must be healthy. You must sleep soundly at night, your nerves must be strong, steady and under perfect control.

If you want to be at your best, capable of doing the very best work that lies in you, why not stop drinking tea and coffee? Drink Postum, the rich, satisfying beverage made from scientifically roasted cereals.

Postum contains absolutely no drugs of any kind, but in flavor tastes much like rich coffee. It helps nerve and brain structure by letting you get sound restful sleep.

DADDY WOEFUL BACK NUMBER
How Is It Possible for Young America to Look Up to a Father Like This?

Dad was forty-five, well dressed, evidently, all business. Son was fifteen or sixteen. Both were standing up on an East Tenth street car.

"Son, this fellow Rulhis—Babe Rulhis you call him—is he the mascot for the team?"

"No, dad," replied the lad with an embarrassed grin, "he's heavy litter for the Yankees. What made you think he was a mascot?"

"Why Babe, you know, Babe, I thought he was a little fellow. And what is it you say, 'Yank'?"

"No, dad, Yanks, Yanks." Then after a moment, disgusted, "Say, dad, didn't you ever hear of John McGraw?"

"McGravs, McGravs. No, I can't remember that name."

The lad was visibly perturbed, and, getting closer to dad, he whispered: "Say, dad, when we get home I'll slip it to you who some of these birds are so you will know next time."—Indianapolis News.

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid overheated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming overheated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon gone.

TO ENTERTAIN CONFERENCE

The second annual conference of Delaware High School Girls is to be held at Laurel over the week-end of Dec. 2-4. The opening session will be held on Friday evening, and the closing will be the Sunday afternoon vesper service.

At the request of the girls at Laurel, this conference will be similar to the first one which was held last year in Dover. It is for the purpose of helping girls to see the interesting things there are for them to do when they are through High School, to see the value of having a purpose in life, and to learn something of the joy of sticking to a purpose, that these girls are invited to come together.

The girls of Laurel High School have graciously invited seventy-five girls from the other High Schools of the State to be entertained in the homes of women who are friends of the girls.

Letters have been sent to the principals of all the High Schools, inviting from two to five girls, according to the size of the school. The cards are to be sent to Miss Mary Stripling, one of the Laurel High School teachers, who has charge of the registration of delegates.

The program includes such speakers as Dr. Elizabeth Allison of the National Speakers Bureau of the Y. W. C. A., a professor of Economics at Bryn Mawr; professor David A. Ward, Superintendent of Schools in Wilmington; Dean Winifred Robinson of the Women's College, Mrs. Esther M. Hawes, and Miss Joyce Gardiner of the East Central Field of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Gardiner will have charge of the recreation of the Conference.

Miss Bernice Hastings of the Laurel faculty is Chairman of the Music Committee, Miss Marie LeCates, the Entertainment Committee and Miss Mildred Hoarsey, the Committee on Meetings. Miss Jean Bright, of the department of Home Economics, has charge of the banquet which her department will serve on Saturday evening. Miss Beulah Thompson, the Laurel senior who has been elected President of the Conference, will be toast-mistress.

Miss Mabel Krall, Field Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., under whose advice the conference is being planned, hopes that the conference will be of infinite value to the High School girls of the State, as well as to those in attendance.

BRITISH PEERS SELL ESTATES

Claim Action Is Forced Upon Them by Taxation and Death Duties.

MUST SEEK SMALLER HOMES

One Big Landed Proprietor After Another Is Dividing and Selling His Holdings—In Same Families for Many Centuries.

London.—England's great estates are crumbling under the weight of taxation and death duties and one big landed proprietor after another among the nobility is dividing and selling his holdings, many of which have been in the hands of single families for centuries.

The latest indication that peers are finding it necessary to seek smaller homes comes in the announcement of the duke of Portland that he may have to abandon his palatial mansion, Welbeck Abbey, in Nottinghamshire. This is only one of the residences of the duke, who owns some 200,000 acres in England.

Duke Expresses Fears.

"For centuries past landed estates have been handed down from generation to generation," said the duke, addressing his tenants on the occasion of the coming of age of his son Lord Francis Cavendish. "Landlords and tenants have lived on terms of mutual trust and affection. I fear, however, that the state of things is passing away, for with the present weight of taxation and the extremely onerous death duties, the future may become very uncertain for all landed proprietors. If this is good for the country, I certainly do not complain. With regard to my own case, it may not be possible for me and my family to continue to reside at Welbeck, but I fear that there can be little doubt that those who come after me will not be able to do so."

Many Connections Severed.

On all sides historic houses are finding new tenants and ancient families are severing their connection with the soil. The duke of Devonshire sold Devonshire house in 1919 and Stowe house, the property of Baroness Kinloss, was disposed of recently.

Others who have sold their properties recently include the duke of Bedford, the duke of Westminster, the duke of Rutland, the duke of Grafton, the duke of Marlborough, Lord Leconfield, Lord Beauchamp, Earl Bradford, Lord Aberdeen, Lord Lovat, Lord Harrington, Lord Harlech, the countess of Warwick and Sir Richard Bulkeley.

Runnymede, a meadow on the bank of the Thames river, in Surrey, site of the historic battle where the barons wrested from King John the Magna Charta in 1215, was up for sale but aroused sentiment compelled its withdrawal. Attacking the government in the debate on the corn production acts repeal bill, Lord Lincolnshire in the house of lords declared the present ministry was preparing to sell "the crown lands and said nothing remained but "to pawn the jewels."

U. OF D. DEFEATS P. M. C.

With a well earned victory over their old rivals P. M. C. of Chester by the score of 6 to 0, University of Delaware on Saturday closed a successful football season. The final game of the season the annual contest with the cadets from Chester was transferred to Wilmington because of a demand of hundreds of graduates and friends of the university to have the game played in that city. That football is more popular than ever was indicated from the fact that Harlan Field was over-crowded.

Out of nine games played Delaware won five and lost four. The team was slow to get started on its winning gait but after dropping the first three games to Penn, Muhlenburg and Johns Hopkins, Delaware then won from New York "Aggies," Haverford, Washington College and Western Maryland, lost to Lafayette and ended the season with the victory over P. M. C.

Harry Jackson the Freshman from Dover continued his brilliant playing throughout the season and was a tower of strength to the team.

While the basketball schedule does not start until after the Christmas holidays, Coach Shipley is working daily with a squad of about fifty candidates for the age game to have a team for the opening of the season.

Despair Lurks In Weak Blood

Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the Blood-Builder, Arouses Dull Faculties

Many a man and many a woman feels all out of sorts from thin, weakened blood. The least little thing goes wrong throws them into a wild form of despondency. Instead of bracing up and meeting ordinary difficulties, they are downed. Nerves are on edge. Appetite lags. Sleep is restless. They are weak and tired and dull. Poor blood works its havoc till the will loses its power. Few people who fall into habits of worry and despondency realize that most of their troubles are due to lack of endurance—to blood that has become weakened by overwork or straining.

Healthy men and women with rich, red blood see things brightly. They tackle life with zest and go along smiling, full of eagerness and endurance. Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken steadily restores the blood to its natural richness. It actually makes red corpuscles, the tiny particles in blood which make it red. Druggists have Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid and tablet form. Advertisement.
